

JOSH CASSETTY

Owner | Estimator

Josh began his journey in the construction industry prior to graduating from IU in 2008. He began as a field laborer and heavy equipment operator and eventually served as project manager, estimator and general manager for one of the largest restoration companies in Indiana. Josh and his wife Tina acquired their first rental property in 2012 which was a fixer upper starter home that they kept and rented to nearby college students. Since then, construction as well as real estate has been the focus and passion of Josh's professional life. It only made sense that he combine his construction and real estate experience so in 2015 he founded Cassetty Builders, a real estate focused construction firm. As of 2020 Josh and Tina own five commercial spaces and six residential with a primary focus on student housing and supporting local businesses. Cassetty Builders has become one of the premier investment property contractors in the Indianapolis market with a proven track record completing hundreds of rental, multi-family and commercial projects for local and institutional investors alike.

Josh is a native of Indianapolis and lives in Greenwood with his wife Tina, they have three beautiful children Jonah (9), Tessa (6), Jase (2) and two dogs Vera, Posey. Traveling, hiking, fishing, watching/playing sports with his kids and date night with his wife are Josh's favorite pastimes. A relationship with God and his family are at the very center of his life and he has adopted a common sense approach to life and business where integrity, reliability and empathy are the guiding principles.
